Wise Words Media is pleased to present for consideration this report:

- Semester 1 - 2019 | Sherlock | A World Unlocked

It has been prepared for clients working in dual, shifting career spaces: that is, creative professionals simultaneously building academic pursuits towards Masters and/or Doctorate qualifications. Working in the creative industries space, clients are typically development and / or executive producers in the film and high-end commercial theatre space.

The Digital Resource Guide is specifically designed to serve and support clients interested in exploring the substantial breadth and depth of the canon of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's most famous literary character: Sherlock Holmes.

Initially the client indicated an interest in ‘podcasts’. Subsequent investigation revealed this to be too broad and lacking definition. Further interviews revealed ‘Sherlock Holmes’ as a podcast topic. The topic then grew to focus more organically on how to assist the client to develop and exploit new / unexplored story-lines within canons of literature, genres and character universe of Sherlock Holmes.

Feedback on this evaluation report is invited and welcome.
2/ SEARCH STRATEGY

Parameters
Search Strategy
The resource guide wouldn’t function if content rested merely on academic resources only. The Digital Resource Guide became dual purpose:

- identifies and links to appropriate academic resources, research, databases and textbooks
- offers a broad, macro-level list of digital resources of existing and recent commercial manifestations of the ‘Sherlock Holmes’ character(s)

Criteria
Criteria was based on the client developing and exploiting new / unexplored story-lines within canons of literature, genres and character universe.

To achieve this, the digital resource guide had to assist by providing material covering a wide range and depth of material. Therefore the initial issue was beyond the obvious published titles by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and recent movies and TV shows, what other resources could be of use?

Once identified, what resources should be selected?

It was surprising to learn more than 13 000 academic, peer-reviewed papers/articles exist on this topic. A plan to include abstracts was dumped in favour of including a mere 3 – they were fashioned into outlines of famous titles. From these TV shows have been produced. A comparison and contrast of this material with the original titles proved a satisfactory way of demonstrating to the client further analysis on their part will reveal similar opportunities to advance the canon further in new and interesting ways.

The issue then boiled down to what material not to include. This was true of textbooks. A longer list than what is necessary was eventually settled on. The rationale being that unless the client stipulates otherwise, they should always be the arbiter of what type of content and volume of material they choose to review.

Novel

This book is a work of fiction in which a young heir is convinced that the mythical hound of Baskerville Hall may be responsible for hunting and killing his uncle. Sherlock Holmes and Dr Watson are contracted by the heir to investigate the beastly, supernatural creature.

The novel provides significant insight into the character of Sherlock Holmes, particularly his abilities as a detective to distil and decipher details within his environment where others cannot. In particular, the story elevates and outlines the professional relationship and friendship between Holmes and Watson.

However, the story also provides evidence of the author's weaknesses in plot and character development.

By reviewing this novel, the client gains further insight into the characters and storylines within the Sherlock Holmes canon.

A work of fiction originally published in 'The Strand' (UK), the book is a collection of short stories including that of a mysterious woman named Irene Adler. She is in possession of embarrassing photos of one Europe's most loved monarchs. Only the brilliant mind of Sherlock Holmes can retrieve the contraband items with royal reputation intact.

In the folklore of Sherlock Holmes, Irene Adler is also known as 'the woman'. The only woman of significance encountered by Sherlock Holmes. The story breaks significant ground - Holmes matches wits with a woman of mystery in the Victorian Era.

A worthy contrast to the Holmes/Watson relationship, latter day writers may possibly be reading too much into the relationship between Holmes and Adler.

That said, this story offers an intriguing 'what if' to the creative process of any creative looking for insight into how to further explore the Sherlock Holmes canon.

The article’s author then debates the question: does the screen version truly adhere to the character it originated from? Who is Sherlock Holmes? This book examines the questions, deconstruction and reconstruction of Sherlock Holmes’ unique traits. From academics to commentators, booklovers and fans – fascination continues to drive analysis on how these traits were formed.
Insights into both Victorian and the modern-day Sherlock are supplied by illustrators, screenwriters, directors, costume designers, set designers, actors, scholars, and fans.
The book is vital for any creative professional looking to carve a unique niche in the Sherlock Holmes universe. |
This book discusses the boundaries between fiction and reality using recent appearances of Conan Doyle in contemporary novels and films as a fictional figure
Essays within the collection investigate the general public’s endless fascination with Doyle and his creation, Sherlock Holmes.
The book is yet another substantial statement confirming that for client’s considering Sherlock Holmes as a commercial pursuit, demand is high for both the character and its author. |
This book explores the topic of big data and its implications for technology, the social order and industry.
As commerce and social interaction within society evolves further through data analytics and data stimuli, the book proposes an analogy that only the equivalent of thousands of Sherlock Holmes clones can mine the data to reap the benefits on offer. |
Table 1 | BIBLIOGRAPHY / RESOURCE LIST | Annotated information by resource type

In the context of client requirements, the world of big data is begging for exploration within the known tropes of Sherlock Holmes.

This book argues that in the 21st century, there's never been a better time to be Sherlock Holmes.

Evidence is presented citing commentary on films, an internationally acclaimed BBC television series, a novel sanctioned by the Arthur Conan Doyle Estate. In the mix are also dozens of additional novels and short stories, video games, comic books, and fan-created works. Sherlock Holmes also has a compelling Internet and social media existence.

This material offers further persuasive insights into the growing, ongoing demand for Sherlock Holmes content.

This graphic novel is an interpretation where the original story has been presented within a contemporary format to appeal to new audiences in the graphic novel space.

‘Recall’ has never been favoured as a plot device for generating momentum in story-telling. This novel still suffers from perceived imperfections in Conan Doyle’s writing. That is, extended exchanges of story exposition by characters sat in rooms commenting on action that has already taken place.

The client can derive much then from this modern re-telling. Use new, original ways to reformat and present the much loved Sherlock Holmes and your text-based content will find a home in the commercial world.

Television | Elementary |

This television series explores the original characterisation of Sherlock Holmes, who is now reimagined as a modern-day resident of New York City. The series is styled as an American procedural drama with the gender of Dr John Watson’s character ‘flipped’ into a female rendition.

This iteration of the Holmes character is a great example for any client considering ways to exploit and extend the Sherlock Holmes character in creative, yet authentic ways.

This film portrays the conflict between Detective Sherlock Holmes and Professor Moriarty - a villainous architect of ill-repute responsible for a string of indiscriminate felonies across the European continent.

Although faithful to the original canon created by Arthur Conan Doyle, the rendering of the character is integrated with cinematic flourishes of action and imposing (albeit expensive) production design.

This 'high-concept' crowd pleaser manages to pull off the impossible: pleasing old fans while attracting new ones. Clients have much to gain by studying the approach of the writers, producers and director.

Three times each year, the exhibition offers exhibitors, elite celebrities, cosplay, anime screenings, and entertainment for all kinds of folk, excitement. Unique panel discussions are also held.

Any client wanting to see and understand the ‘fan experience’ for themselves will find that their ROI on investment of a ticket entry will be high value. Not just for Sherlock Holmes, but for all genre’s and the fans who keep the world of Sherlock Holmes (and others) alive in a very real way.
Equitable Learning Plan

STUDENT: Sean Thomas McIntyre, s3778572
EQUITABLE LEARNING ADVISOR: Martin Kelly
SCHOOL: School of Business Information Technology & Logistics
PROGRAM: Master of Information Management
EXPIRY DATE: 30-06-2019

The above student, who is enrolled in your Program, has recently registered with Equitable Learning Services. This student has a documented disability, long term illness and/or mental health condition as defined by the Disability Discrimination Act (CDA, 1992). The Equitable Learning Plan has been developed with reference to documentation from the student's health professional and is valid for the academic year in which it is published, unless otherwise indicated. If there are concerns about the impact of any of the adjustments on the academic integrity of the course, staff should contact Equitable Learning Services as soon as possible to discuss their concerns and negotiate alternative adjustments. Equitable Learning Services can be contacted at els@mit.edu.au

LEARNING IMPACT STATEMENT

Sean is a carer for his parents which impacts significantly on his time, energy levels and flexibility to engage fully with many aspects of his studies.

LEARNING AND TEACHING

REASONABLE ADJUSTMENTS (RAs)

Learning and Teaching

Attendance

Student Absence: The student has a fluctuating condition and may be away for short periods due to ill health. Students are still required to meet attendance hurdle requirements where applicable and should discuss any absences with their academic / teaching staff. The STUDENT should contact the Academic / Teaching Staff if they require assistance to catch up.

Work Integrated Learning

Further information about managing WIL can be found at:
NB: A WIL Activity Planning Meeting with staff and student can be a useful way to ensure all parties are in agreement regarding WIL planning. Equitable Learning Services staff are available to attend these meetings on request.

Flexible Working Arrangements: The student will require the following flexible working arrangements where possible:

f flexibility to allow Sean to respond to carer responsibilities as they arise.
N.B. Equitable Learning Services recommends that WIL PRACTITIONER organise a WIL Activity Planning Meeting to discuss with the student whether this may be possible in the WIL activity environment particularly in relation to applicable registration requirements, timely completion, etc. Equitable Learning Services can be invited to either attend such a meeting and/or provide advice.
EQUITABLE ASSESSMENT ARRANGEMENTS (EAAs)

This relates to assignments, presentations and tests/essays - including laboratory, practical, online and written tests.

Assignments and Assessments

Extensions: The STUDENT will negotiate with ACADEMIC TEACHING STAFF for extra time to submit assignments/written work. The request must be made no later than the official due date. The appropriate length for the extension is determined by the nature of the assessment task and the impact that the student’s condition is having on their studies. Extensions MAY BE GREATER than seven days. For Higher Education and Vocational Education students, an application for Special Consideration is not required for the first extension. However, for a further extension for the same assessment task, the STUDENT must apply for Special Consideration and provide required supporting documentation. NB: The Special Consideration process does not apply to VCE students. VCE students should negotiate further extensions (beyond the first) directly with teaching staff.

NB: All of the recommendations outlined above should be actioned by the person indicated in UPPER CASE in the document.

LEGISLATIVE REQUIREMENTS, UNIVERSITY GUIDELINES AND PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

Disability Legislative Obligations

The Equitable Learning Plan has been developed in order for RMIT to comply with its legislative obligations under the Disability Discrimination Act (1992) and the Disability Standards for Education (2005). The plan aims to ensure that students with disability, long term illness and/or mental health condition can access and participate in education on the same basis as other students.

Disability Discrimination Act

Disability Standards for Education (2005)

Privacy

RMIT values the privacy of every individual and handles personal and health information in accordance with the privacy principles contained in the Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014 (Vic), the Health Records Act 2001 (Vic) and other relevant legislation. You are receiving this information with the consent of the student and for the purpose of reasonable adjustments and equitable assessment arrangements. Please ensure that you handle this information suitably including not sharing inappropriately and deleting when no longer required. Should you have any queries please contact Privacy Advisory at privacy@rmit.edu.au.

Responsibility for Implementation of the Equitable Learning Plan:

The implementation of the Equitable Learning Plan may require collaboration between the student and School staff. It is the responsibility of both the School and the STUDENT to ensure that they undertake the actions outlined in the Equitable Learning Plan.

Equitable Learning Services (ELS) can provide advice to staff and students about any aspect of the Equitable Learning Plan. If you have any questions regarding the Equitable Learning Plan please contact ELS at: els@rmit.edu.au.

- the person managing your care
- the period (details) in which you needed to be the primary career.

- If attending a hospital attendance, you may request an attendance certificate from the hospital identifying your attendance, such as a patient in outpatients/emergency, accompany a patient to emergency, visiting an inpatient. The attendance certificate would identify
  - the date(s) of attendance (and, if relevant, the times)
  - you as attending.
- If attending to accompany or visit, the name of the person you are accompanying/visiting.

KEY DETAILS FOR DOCUMENTATION

- Supporting documentation should be formal (e.g., letter, letterhead or on formal stationery) of the organisation/business providing the document. The document must be signed, dated and the name, title/position and contact details of the person completing the document should also be clearly displayed.
- Supporting documentation may be in English.
- If you are having difficulty obtaining this documentation in English, you will need to submit a copy of the document as well as a copy of an translated document in English, completed by a NAATI-registered translator.

HOW TO SUBMIT SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS

- The best method for you to provide the requested supporting documents is to scan or take a good resolution picture (such as by camera or mobile phone) of the whole document page.
- If your application starts with SW, log into the online application and submit a copy of the document(s). The "SW" shows that you applied online and so can log back in and upload documents as pdf or jpg files (please do not do so after receiving the outcome).

You can also:
- Email a copy of the document(s) (as a reply to this message).
- Fax the document(s) with your application number (881) 9354 3686.
- Send the document(s) to the nearest RMIT Connect service point location in Melbourne.

Please keep the original of any scanning or faxing a document. You may need to supply the original of this document to the examiner or assessor in your application. You will be notified if the original is needed and advised on how to submit the document.

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- If your application relates to a request for an extension of time to submit assessment work (such as assignments, projects, exams, etc.), it is expected that you will continue to progress that work and do your best to submit it as soon as possible while your application is under consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Justice

Good morning Paul,

Apologies for not formatting this email subject heading correctly,

My Dad was admitted unexpectedly to Sunshine Hospital early hours Saturday 11 May 2019. His procedure is tomorrow and recovery period stated is 6 weeks (unconfirmed),

Not knowing this would transpire, I'd already alerted Lizzie and Sue (Wed 8 May 2019) I would be absent for their remaining classes (see below),

However to see out the Semester, best I confirm now I won’t be able to attend any classes for all subjects I’m enrolled in,

I’m fully committed to complete the semester in an offline/online capacity. To date, I’ve achieved results above expectations and am determined not to let these come to nothing, re: Equitable Learning - I’m registered in my capacity as carer for parents in Mar/Apr 2019, Martin Kelly (RMIT Connect) said to add the doc each time I’m emailing and mentioning carer commitments. Hope this is ok, let me know if not,

You are welcome to call me any time should you require further information,

I will do my best to complete any extra required paperwork for extensions to remaining assessments during this week,

Thanks for considering my query/update. Apologies for inconvenience, cc Lizzie, Daniella, Sue, Huan = apologies I am unable to notify/email you separately due to time constraints/carer commitments, cc Huan - Are you able to call me on Friday morning re: group assessment Task 2 please? I will email my group colleagues either today or tomorrow, cc Martin Kelly, RMIT Connect = thanks for assistance. However, the document is incorrect, I am not disabled, nor suffering mental illness or other conditions listed, As I explained: I am sole, fulltime carer for both parents. Can you please edit/amend document to correctly reflect my circumstances and family role as carer for both parents simultaneously.

Hi Daniella and Lizzie

Thanks for info below - will Wendy’s presentation materials be available at all forwards? No probs if not as perhaps I can arrange to see her and/or Daniella for quick review if required.

I’m also writing re: Availability:

- I’m not likely to be coming along Thurs & Fri’s weekly through to end Semester. If you don’t see me in class, haven’t dropped out/disappeared, just rationalising time vs carer commitments in Sunbury
- Will be Tues & Wed classes for sure - no change there

Thanks Lizzie earlier advice re: Equitable Learning - I’ve registered in my capacity as carer for parents. The blake said to add the day each time I’m emailing and mentioning carer commitments. Hope this is ok, let me know if not. Absence on Thurs/Fri’s will not affect my ability to meet assessment deadlines.

Many thanks

Dear IM students,

As we are fast approaching the end of Semester 1, this email is to update you on coming events and program planning.

1/ IM Informal Social

It has become a bit of a tradition for students and staff from the IM programs to end the semester with an informal social gathering. As we now have the Oxford Scholar reopened, we would like to suggest that we meet at the Scholar after the Information Provision class on Week 12 (Thursday 30th May).

Lizzy has indicated that the class should finish 4:15ish, so we suggest meeting from 4:30 onward. All IM students are welcomed, so come and finish the semester with a (self-funded) drink.
